

Disjunctions with Moving Targets

Magda Dumitru
MACCS, Macquarie University

Abstract: Findings from three experiments are reported, investigating the role of perceptual and general cognitive factors for judging the truth of disjunctive sentences. In departure from traditional methods involving static displays such as toys in boxes or drawings on slides (e.g. Braine & Rumain, 1981